THE REPUBLICAN HAS A LARGER CIR CULATION THAN ANY OTHER MORNING PAPER IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

READING MATTER ON EVERY PAGE THURSDAY MORNING ...... NOV. 90, 1873.

THE NEXT CONGRESS AND THE PU-TURE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY. It is not the financial question, the Spanish complications, the question of transportation or the tariff that the Republican majority in the next Congress will have to deal with and settle to the antifaction of the country if in the future it wishes to maintain the political suprementy it has held during the last thirteen years. The gravest duty that devolves upon it comes it at the very threshold of its organization. Congress meets while the echoes of the late elections, with all their bessons of warning if not of musace, are reverberating warning if not of menace, are reverberating from one end of the country to the other. It is to be hoped that the warning or the men-ace, whichever it may be, will not be lost upon those who are charged with the great-est responsibility that, in a party point of

est responsibility that, in a party point of view, ever fell upon a party majority. From one end of the country to the other the journals of the Republican party are apologizing for the defeats of October. In this State we are told that it was "the war of races;" in that the "whisky interest;" in of races;" in that the "whisky interest;" in one the grangers, in another something else. These explanations and excuses are all very well so far as they go; but the trouble is they do not go far enough, and if the gentlemen who are intrusted with the leadership of the party shall accept and follow them they will be simply acting the part of the ostrich. Mr. Buckle, in his "History of Civilization," says there is not on record a single instance where a party obtained power and falled to abuse it. This is not the exact language, but it is the idea of one of his tersest and most philosophical sentences. There is not the slightest use in blinking at facts and poking our heads in the one of his terrest and most philosophical sen-tences. There is not the slightest use in blinking at facts and poking our heads in the sand. Any attempt to deceive the people will end in utter failure and ignounilous de-feat. We admire the devotion of some of our cotemporaries; we give them the follest credit for their efforts at the present time; but, in our opinion, their course is a mistaken one, and their advice, if followed, will be an advice of which, in the near future, we shall all kave reason to repent. Facts—the one, and their advice, if followed, will be an advice of which, in the near future, we shall all have reason to repent. Facts—the facts of the last session of Congress and of one or two of the Congresses which preceded it—the dark transactions of some of whose members only came to light last spring, should be looked fairly and squarely in the face, and the party lines should be drawn in strict accordance with the course that duty and prudence alike command. The great question that each and every Republican representative should ask and answer during the next twelve days—before Congress meets, a week from next Monday—is, did we blunder in the last twelve months? did we "abuse our power," as every other party that ever existed in the end abused it, and, if so, what steps shall be taken toward the recovery of that public confidence which was so generously reposed in the party a year ago?

To our mind the answer is as valsin as the taken toward the recovery of that public confidence which was so generously reposed in the party a year ago?

To our mind the answer is as plain as the smilght. Personal kindness and consideration may blind the eye and warp the judgment; but the blunder, it is should be made, will be a fatal blunder. The times in which we live are full of stermiess, and stern action is the waterhord of the hour. It will not do to depend in the future, as we have in the past, upon the errors and the rimes of the opposition. The hour has gone by when the accidental sids of blindness and simpldify upon the part of our adversaries can be relied upon as the sure and certain pathways to success. There is a feeling abroad which it will not do to ignore. What was only elt months ago a mere sentiment and an abstraction has become a conviction that cannot be written out of the public mind or explained away by the customary clap-trap of the practiced orator and stump speaker. The coming Congress alone has it in its power to remove it. Will the Republican majority in that body prove itself equal to the party duty of the hour?

ONE OF THE BEST and ablest journals or our exchange list, in commenting upon the lessons of the late panie, thinks that real estate will be the leading investment of the future. It does not mean by this that speculation is taken as a discussion to now. ulation is to take a new direction—to pass from fancy railroad stocks into lands and homes—but that capitalists will be content with smaller returns for their money, for the sake of safety and permanence in the invest-ment, and for its increasing value. If this hope shall be realized, it will be productive of very great good. The country has been suffering for the last ten years from over speculation. In the hot haste to be rich, apitalists have invested their m sorts of fancy enterprises, promising fancy dividents and offering fancy rates of interest. In that way legitimate busin been hampered; money has been ey has been held at s rates; the banks have been in with the poison of the hour, and we have g on from year to year, inflating the subble which has at last burst. The end has

THE ORGANIZATION of the next House of Representatives is giving an immense amount of trouble to a large number of gentlemen.

There are at least four candidates for the po There are at ionat four candidates for the po-sition of Sergeant-at-Arm—Messer, Ordway, Dyer, Markland and Muun. Buxton is the only man on the track for the position of Doorkeeper; but for the post office the num-ber of patriots who want to serve their coup-try in that capacity is almost insumerable.

THE BEN OF MECKLENBURG. First Beriaration of Independence

1778.
It is not generally known throughout the North that the citizens of North Carolina lay claim to the honor of having made a declaration of independence previous to the declaration which is so generally acknowledged in the celebration of the Fourth of Jaly. It is merertheless the fact, and is just how the subject of extended comment in the North Carolina press. As a compendium of the arguments advanced regarding it, we reprint the following communication from the columns of the Ralseich Netzer:

During the Halvigh Areas:

This one and only declaration or Independence was made at Charlotte on that day is as indubinable as any contemporaneous fact. The whole of the paper, by which it was made, was printed as any contemporaneous fact. The whole of the paper, by which it was made, was printed part of it not long afterwards in some newspapers in New York. It was forwarded to tag dovernment in London by the Governor of Georgia, and was evidently the paper remembered by several of the survivors, who have not only testified to the fact of the declaration, but have also title to recall the content or appeared to cast the slightest waspicton on the gradueneous of the paper of the last May, ITD.

As to the two papers sacribed to the 70th May, ITD, there is no evidence that either was printed. to cast the slightest suspicion on the guanteness of the paper of the last May, 1713.

known manusaript copy of one is dated September 5, 1800. The other paper appeared for the first time in 1872, in Martin's History of North Carolina. The advocates of the paper for the such admit that there was also a paper issued on the rite. But they have a paper per sound the rite. But they have the paper appeared "premature." It may pity that in a matter of such moment the Preshyferian precabers and editors round about Charlotte did not resolve with more deliberation, so that they would not be forcest in a few days to made what they had and take back all their assumptions as to justices of the peace, Ac. But if it be true that they made "premature" soulces on the 20th, surely what they made on the list must be taken as matters. So, then, as there are no similar retired for the former. Therefore one of the papers of May 26, 1715, was in force from May 10 fo May

Buxton is the only only man on the track for the position of Doorkeeper; but for the post office the number of patriots who want to serve their country in that capacity is almost innumerable. There is an ex-governor, an ex-congressmant an ex-soldler and a present postmaster. It four or five of these gentlemen cannot get what they want they will take anything lying around loose. They are not very particular.

THE PROLONGATION of MacMalon's term as President of the French republic means the ultimate restoration of the monarchy. A monarchist himself, every effort of his administration will be directed toward the annihilation of the republic. The shadow of the kingdom or the empire projects over the present so-called government of the people, and is certain to grow longer and deeper as the mouths and the years glide by.

A congray-onnexy of the New York World has had an interview with the Spanish Minister, Admiral Polo. The Admiral says he has not yet heard a word from Spain, but that he isdieves the thing will be all right. His opinion that the Vigninus was a mere thockaderuner, and should have been captured, does not promise a very satisfactory termination to the difficulty.

THE CONVICTION OF WIR. M. Tweed in New York yesterday is one of the healthy signs of the times. Scarcely a man in the country expected so granifying a result. His influence was so enormous and his wealth as great that with the proverbial corruption of so-called overtical or form spain, but that he isdieves the thing will be all right. His opinion that the vigninus was a more thockaderuner, and should have been captured, does not promise a very satisfactory termination to the difficulty.
